Updated 4/6/26

NATIONAL SUMMARY

Nothing to report at the time of posting.

ALL OPERATORS INCLUDING FREIGHTLINER

The reported alterations below focus on railway corridors which are operated by class 90s for Freightliner, but these alterations also apply to other operators who do not use Class 90s too.

West Coast Main Line

A busy month yet again for engineering work on the WCML. See below for a high-level summary that I have been able to piece together.

- Saturday 6th and Sunday 7th June – the WCML will be blocked between Warrington Bank Quay and Wigan North Western/Preston. This will result in diversions via Manchester and Bolton or the East Midlands and the ECML. Check RTT for individual services.
- Sunday 14th June – the WCML will be blocked between Warrington Bank Quay and Wigan North Western/Preston. This will result in diversions via Manchester and Bolton or the East Midlands and the ECML. Check RTT for individual services.
- Sunday 21st June – the WCML will be blocked, which will result in diversions via ECML. Check RTT for individual services.
- Weeknight diversions via the West Midlands and Bescot during w/c 7th, 14th, and 21st June 2026. Check RTT for individual services.

There were no other known alterations to report on at the time of publication. However, engineering work does take place on various sections of the WCML during the week and at weekends at short notice. It is advisable to check real-time data sources for specific trains on specific days just to be sure that the train you're looking for is a runner or diverted.

East Anglia / GEML

There were no known alterations to report on for June at the time of publication as most alterations will impact on the route via Bury St Edmonds for a number of weekends. However, engineering work does take place on various sections of the GEML during the week and at weekends at short notice. It is advisable to check real-time data sources for specific trains, on specific days just to be sure that the train you're looking for is a runner or diverted.
